Hello, MBA students. Once again, you have the opportunity to apply some of the corporate finance concepts to your own personal finances. We've been studying capital budgeting and long-term financing over the last couple of weeks from a corporate standpoint. We can apply the same strategic thinking to our own personal finances.

In this assignment, we have provided a quick breakdown of common personal investment types in the investment and diversification document. The information is summarized and straightforward. Also notice the list of investment resources on the last page of this document.

For this assignment, read through the information and reflect on how you might use these investments to earn a higher return and build your own personal financial wealth.
