Things I found interesting:

- Boston tea party had more to do with having the freedom to smuggle things over, rather than about taxes, which is what we have been lead to believe this whole time.
- Treaty of Paris was awesome because it limited colonizers ability to take land from the Natives, leaving them stuck with war debt.
- British government borrowed 150,000,000 pounds to fight the war, with interest payments amounting to half of the nation's budget, all because of wanting to win the war.
