

Exam I:

This is your first exam and is worth 10% of your grade. This exam is due at 11:59 pm on Monday March 1st. Therefore, it must be submitted online through Blackboard before that time and date. Late exams WILL be accepted but you will lose points.

Your answer is to be in the form of one essay (Do not simply type out an answer to the questions). There is no minimum or maximum length required. However, you MUST answer the questions fully using complete ideas. I recommend that your essay be between 500 and 800 words. This is just a recommendation as I want full and complete thoughts and analysis. Your essay should be 10 or 12 font and use a standard style such as Times New Roman. You MUST include a reference page with this essay and your text must have in-text citation in the body of your essay. This is a college level essay and will be graded in that manner. Proper grammar, spelling, and punctuation is a must. You will be deducted points for improper use of grammar, incorrect spellings, and poor punctuation.

Please answer the following questions:

- 1.) Compare and contrast the primary doctrines of the framers of the Constitution. That is discuss and analysis Madisonian Democracy, Jeffersonian Democracy, and Hamiltonian Democracy. If any, what are the similarities between these three ideas of Democracy? What are the differences? How, if any, are each applied to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights?

- 2.) In your opinion, what form of democracy are we closest to today? Do we even have one of these ideas of democracy? Please provide evidence in support of your opinion. What are some recent examples in our contemporary society that support your opinion?

Final Notes: This is an open book, open notes assignment. I, of course, have no way of keeping you honest but you are not to use any person as a source for your essay. This is NOT a collective exam. By violating this policy you are only hurting yourself. Please do not use any person or persons to complete your exam. Every other source including the internet is acceptable.

Good Luck!
