Daniel Martinez

Daniel Martinez is my father and a brother to Shane Martinez. As a father, Daniel is the central factor to the emotional well-being of us as his children, and he disciplines us and cares for us. He is supportive, affectionate and he has contributed a lot to our cognitive abilities, social growth, academics, authenticity, and self-esteem. When I evaluate the life and behavior of my brother

James and compare it with my father's character, there is a great similarity that is clear among them. This indicates that some theories about the parent-child relationship are demonstrated in our family. In this regard, my father has acted as a teacher in our lives on matters such as how to behave, conduct ourselves in different occasions and how to interact with our neighbors. In short, Daniel Martinez, our dad, has left a legacy in our lives which we will be grateful of and pass it to our children.

Mary Johnson:

Mary Johnson is a wife to Shane Martinez. I call her auntie. She is the only wife of Uncle Shane, and they have three children namely: Sulei, Michael and Lucinda. Focusing on her status and roles as my auntie and a mother to my cousins I can say she is a "LIGHT of Home." In this case, she knows all qualities, practical skills and academic studies that are needed in nurturing her children. She does many roles ranging from laundry, chef, managing finances, counseling, planning for her family, housekeeping and resolving conflicts. She maintains her family by portraying great love to her children and her husband an act which binds the family as a unit.
