The Paper

The paper is due Friday, July 16 at the end of the day.

Grading Rubric:

- The paper should have a title.
- Five (5) pages, including any figures or illustrations, but not the references or endnotes. Double or 1-1/2 spaced. 12 pt. font. .pdf or Word documents only (no linked files that I would have to access on-line).
- Use good grammar and check for spelling errors – proper editing is important to the grade.
- Use in-text citation. This means that you give the (author year:page) in parentheses and at the end you have a list of References, organized by author last name. The references basically are: Last name, First name. Year. Title. City:Publisher. The style is American Sociological Association (ASA) or as given in the journals use this formatting style, particularly Amer. Sociological Review. You can either follow the formatting guide available on-line, or get a couple of ASR articles and look at how their references formatted.

It is not a formal research document, but rather a paper or report, so the format is flexible. An Introduction, three or more subheadings to help the reader recognize when you're moving to a different focus, and a Conclusion could be used.
