Your final assignment is a formal proposal to DargeanGrix senior management. In your paper, you may use video conferencing or any of the other ideas or technologies you've examined in this course. Your proposal is a culmination of your learning over the past five weeks. Incorporate the feedback you have received from your peers and your instructor to develop the deliverables for each section in the proposal.

The proposal should be designed to convince your audience that the innovation or solutions you are suggesting are beneficial to the company, its employees, and its customers. You will need to present a balanced view of the problem and the solution, and discuss the benefits of the proposal for each stakeholder in the endeavor.

In your paper include the following sections:

- Executive Summary
 - Provide an overview of the proposal contents.
- Problem Summary
 - Explain the problem(s) that DargeanGrix faces, including intangible costs and why the company must address the issue(s).
- Intangible Costs of the Problem
 - Analyze the tangible and intangible costs associated with the problem(s) identified above.
 - Include a table to provide a visual representation of your analysis.
 - Proposed solution
 - Evaluate how the solution addresses DargeanGrix's issue(s).
 - Include a cost and benefit analysis for your proposal.
 - Include a table to provide a visual representation of the information.
 - Justify how the solution addresses ethical concerns and is socially responsible toward the wider community (e.g., green technology, inclusion, diversity).

- Rationale
 - Explain how you will take the lead in championing the changes.
 - Explain how the solution could benefit the organization, the clients, and the community.
- Summary and Conclusion(s)
 - Provide a clear recap of the proposal and your recommendations and conclusions.
