

Assignment Guide

Topic: The topic to analyse the role of media in The role of women in peace processes – Nepal

Task: This assignment is asking you to write a critical response to the topic, and the role the media play in this topic. So how does media play a part in this topic, how they reported it, was there bias and how did they promote this process? Analyse if the media had an influence on the topic. If the media played a positive or negative role and if it helped the Peace Process in Nepal for Women.

So the main focus of this assignment is the media and how news, or journalists, social media or any other media played a role.

Length: The assignment asks for you to write for a 12-15 minute speech, so around 1250 words at least.

Powerpoint: The number of slides depends on how many different things will be talked about, so 8 or 10 or whatever is fine. Each slide must have a picture or two, underneath the picture there must be a reference of where the image is from. Only include 3-4 dot points with a sentence summary of the main points on each slide, so keep it simple and easy to understand. Maybe for 1 or 2 slides have just an image or two, so there can be interaction with the audience where I draw their attention to the image.

Requirements: Make sure there is a “NEXT” at the end of each paragraph or topic on the paper, to indicate when to change to the next powerpoint slide. (this will make things more clear and makes sure you know when it is time to change the powerpoint slide).

To be successful in this task, remember to:

Outline the case clearly

Evaluate the challenges that the issue presents and suggest possible measures that can be used to redress the issue.

Be rigorous in your research. You need to include a wide range of evidence to support your case.

Deal with evidence from a variety of reliable, competing perspectives.

Challenge the reliability of the evidence to assess the usefulness of the sources used to evaluate the issue.

Evaluate the relevance of the issue as a Global challenge.

Referencing & Bibliography: there's a requirement to have in-text referencing since it is a presentation, so just use in text referencing in the speech paper as I do have to hand the paper in after my speech. Annotate some of the sources you have used. I recommend about 5-8 references and annotate a couple from that.

Those two sources are useful sources.
