

Guidelines for completion of assignment – Part 1: LO 1, LO3, LO4, LO11, LO20, LO21 LO23 LO24

Part 1 - Written Assignment – submit in class as timetabled week of 4th November 2019

1. Using researched information explain in detail in your own words, (supported by relevant references), the difference between anatomy and physiology and benign and malignant tumours.
2. Using a mind map format classify tissues into four main groups and expand on this information by briefly describing the different tissues within each group (include references).
3. Outline the structure of the skin, using a labelled diagram (this should be free/hand drawn and labelled).
4. Using appropriate references explain the function of the skin and its relationship to the circulatory system and the nervous system.
5. Choose one disease/health issue related to either tissue or skin, then using appropriate research/references explore the presentation and progression of the illness, identifying prevalence in Ireland/England.

Written assignments should follow logical sequence; include a plan, introduction, appropriate written information, conclusion, and bibliography/reference list as well as diagrams as directed.

All sources of information should be referenced using the Harvard System of Referencing throughout the text as appropriate and appropriately documented in the bibliography/reference list. Your assignment must include at least two references from books/journals.
