HISTORY

History has been concerned with “a careful and systematic study of key societal processes such as relations of political power, or economic interest, or cultural life over time, with a central emphasis on the levers of change and continuity, and on how and why change occurs in human societies.”

CULTURE

The lifestyles, background, traditions, habits, social Interaction, attitude of people towards work, culture, religion etc. are all the characteristics that basically characterize a particular society or a nation. These parameters of culture are responsible for the proper functioning and behavior of people in a society or nation. And these are the points that basically produce the diversity among people and in the society”

POLITICS

Politics is often associated with notions such as moral decay, frustration, and disappointment, the feeling of betrayal. The morality of political actions and the two classical theses of realism and of indirect motivation in politics may have a huge role in the contemporary world. It defines economy, culture and history.

ECONOMICS

“Economy result from a set of processes that involves its culture, values, education, technological evolution, history, social organization, political structure and legal systems, as well as its geography, natural resource endowment, and ecology, as main factors. These factors give context, content, and set the conditions and parameters in which an economy functions. Its role therefore in the contemporary world becomes so unique

ENCYCLICAL

Unlike the old golden days, the hopes for development, at any particular time were so lively but today it appears very far from being realized. “In those years there was a certain widespread optimism about the possibility of overcoming, without excessive efforts, the economic backwardness of the poorer peoples, of providing them with infrastructures and assisting them in the process of industrialization”. Today, this remains a mere dream.
