

Good afternoon Angelica,

Thank you very much for sending me your work on time. I have uploaded it to Turnitin.com and below I will provide you with some feedback so you can improve your work.

Please include a complete reference of your assigned article following the samples provided in the Instructions file [Hawkins, H. 2020. Underground imaginations, environmental crisis and subterranean cultural geographies. Cultural Geographies, 27(1): 3-22.] - journal title must be written in Italics]. As you can see, the reference of this source provided in both the Cover Page and in page # 8 of your document does not cite correctly the title of the article. In addition, a correct citation of this source in the essay portion of your work would be: (Hawkins 2020: page number).

In addition, when you respond to the questions posed in the Instructions, you must state that this comes from the assigned article. An example of what I am asking you to do is to start a sentence/paragraph that says something like the following: According to the author of this article or, Hawkins (2020) states that

It is also very important to mention that the only two sources that you are allowed to use are the assigned article (Hawkins 2020), and the vast majority of your work will come from this source, and the course textbook (Domosh et al. 2013: page number). In other words, the information included that comes from a source authored by Patten and Newhart (2017) must be erased since this is not related in any way to this assignment. This is specially the case of the Methodology and Conclusions sections since there is no need to explain what constitutes or can be found in these sections.

The Introduction and Structure of the Paper sections are very good and need little improvement. Remember that, in addition to the description of the information included for each portion of this assignment (responding to the questions posed), you must analyze and reflect on the meaning of this information. For example, this is from the Argument section; this (argument) must be made very clear from the start. Although you hint what is mentioned by the author of this article, this is not really clear.

Another example, the Wikipedia question is not answered. In this regard, and as mentioned in the last course announcement related to this assignment, why do you think a professor of a course will include a question related to the use of Wikipedia in an assignment of this nature? (Bibliography) In addition, and using the same section as an example, there is no breakdown of the type of sources used to compose this article: How many are books, book chapters, articles, websites, etc?

Note that it is expected that each section is described and analyzed in at-least one full page. Remember that it is a course requirement to include pertinent sections of our course textbook (Domosh et al. 2013) in all written assignments, and this must also be included in both your essay portion, as well as in a Bibliography page to count. Overall, you have done a good job here and need to expand your work a bit more, answering more thoroughly to all questions posed, and analyzing and reflection on the meaning of this information. Good luck.

Sincerely and respectfully,

Dr. Gonzalez
