

Young Alternative Pop, R&B, Hip-Hop, Soul, and Funk Musical Duo, Stillwell Blue

This young and talented singing duo wanted to find a way to symbolize a tree or roots, and a fishing hook. Their mother came up with the Hook idea and they thought the leaves around it all would be a good representation of their family roots and that why they pursued music and where they received their musicality from.

Their name was established from a personal history and relationship as kids visiting their grandparents "house". They lived on a street called Stillwell Rd. Their deceased granddad was very special to them. He was the first to teach them how to fish. (Hook significance) The first fish they caught were bluegill. (hook/blue) The shutters on the house were also "BLUE". Naturally, blue also signifies how they all felt when he passed away. They have significant memories there involving music too, which is our passion. So their name is somewhat in honor of him and those memories.

The roots signify the history, growth, strength and stability of musical talent in our family; plus still honors those before us, that led to us being where we are today.
