

MY RELIGION (CHRIST POOL)

My Religion's Name: CHRIST POOL

Mission Statement

The mission of the Christ Pool is to direct people into a growing relationship with God, whom we recognize as BABA. The Christ Pool is a religion that recognizes BABA as the supreme being. BABA created the universe and everything in it within one day. This shows how powerful and intelligent our God is. The above mission statement implies that this religion intends to influence people globally to believe in BABA in order to experience His love. This mission statement also shows that this religion aids people to take the next step toward their supreme God (BABA).

□ Ninian Smart's seven dimensions of religion

One of Ninian's dimensions is narrative or mythological. The mythological dimension involves various stories that describe the foundational history of a given religion. The Christ Pool incorporates this dimension because this religion has a distinguished history. I'm glad to report that the Christ Pool has a narrative that is passed from one generation to the other. The foundational stories of this religion include the creation, the battle with the devil, the death, and the resurrection of angels. In the beginning, BABA created the universe and everything in it. God created everyone in a unique way. He wanted every human being to be unique hence giving people different attributes. These attributes enabled human beings to possess survival tactics. The creation of human beings was a major aspect of this religion. For instance, God created the first man and woman from His Knee. It all began when God scrubbed an herb on his knee then the knee swells like a balloon. After seven days, God's swollen knee ruptured, releasing a baby boy and a baby girl. God ordered these individuals to procreate and fill the universe. After the creation, a thick cloud started to form in the atmosphere. This was a sign of a bad spirit that was against God's creatures. These spirits killed the holy angels of God. God managed to restore their breath by dead angels with a piece of black wood. Therefore, all generations will be able to read and understand this foundational history of the Christ Pool religion.

This religion also embraces the doctrine dimension. This dimension is mainly concerned with the religion's philosophy. This religion has a Holy Book called MUMA. One of the doctrines is based on this Holy Book. It states that the teachings of this holy book, MUMA, must be respected at all costs. Another doctrine implies that God has the powers to reward his Angels who work hard to protect his creatures. Some of these Angels have been rewarded with a flock of sheep and a free breakfast every morning.

This religion also maintains an ethical dimension. This religion has well-stipulated rules that guide the conduct of all believers. One of the rules is that no believer should take a shower at night because the devils operate at the dark hours. Another rule is that all believers must go to the cave (worship places) every Sunday Morning to communicate with their God. Another rule is that men who are over 30 years of age do not have conjugal rights since only teenagers are allowed to give birth.

Christ Pool also has social or institutional dimensions. The religion maintains social gatherings every Monday and Sunday morning. All believers across the world are required to attend religious services at the nearby caves where the powers of God prevail. Below is the picture of members of Christ Pool church as they pray in the cave.

Moreover, this religion upholds the material dimension. Some of the artifacts in this religion include a metallic cup that is filled with wine. After the creation of the first parents, God gave them this metallic cup to symbolize human progress even during hardship. Every believer should kneel before this cup in order to receive blessings. The other artifacts include pants and sandals of the first parents who are stored in the cave. Below is a metallic cup filled with wine.

Furthermore, the ritual dimension is prevalent in this religion. The Christ Pool has a number of rituals that are keenly observed by the believers. One of the rituals in this religion is baptism. In this religion, a child is baptized when he or she is five years of age. These children are baptized using a red chili sauce. For instance, the religious leader gives one liter of chili sauce to the children. They then drink these substances within 30 seconds. Also, they are given honey to show them how sweet it is to be in the presence of God. The religion also has specific songs that are sung at the beginning and end of the prayers. This religion also embraces dances. Women are expected to dance when wearing miniskirts as a way of appreciating their bodies and connecting with the creator.

The last dimension in this religion is experiential. The believers are expected to demonstrate strong emotions when praying. For instance, they should show sympathy and humble before God. During prayers, the believers should shed tears to show that they are humbled before their God.
