

The paper should be at least 5 pages long, double spaced, MLA format with page numbers.

"5 pages long" means 5 pages of your own writing. References do not count towards the 5 pages. For example if you write 4 pages then have half a page of references that counts as 4 pages.

Write about one of the following subjects:

- online privacy OR
- freedom of speech related to information technology

The paper should have an introduction, good and bad sides, conclusion.

If you have an opinion about the subject, write about it. You can study a case to better describe the subject of your paper. Also if you have recommendations to fix any problems with the subject of the paper, include them.

To learn more about the subject use valid media, journal articles. Our library has access to many article databases

(Proquest, Academic elite,...) that you can use to search for sources. Avoid blogs because in most cases they are peoples opinions without supporting sources/references. Cite at least 3 different sources.

Assume you are writing the paper for college students who don't have a technical background.
