

Primary Source Analysis

In its historical effect, the Chamizal compromise (Chamizal Convention Treaty of 1963) stood not only as a resolution for a century of conflict but also as a political milestone for the United States and Mexico Relations.

1. Primary source: Start analyzing the future implications of article V of the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo 1848.
2. Secondary sources: Read news articles and hear oral stories, to complement your response.

Respond to these questions:

- Why the Chamizal land plot is/was politically significant to both countries?
- Why the land dispute lasted a century? (provide the historical background based on the primary sources)
- Why did the resolution happen in the context of the Cold War?

Your response paper should be at least 600 words long.

This assignment is due Sunday 11:59 PM

El Paso Herald-Post

The Newspaper That Serves Its Readers

VOL. LXXXIV, NO. 231

EL PASO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1964

FINAL EDITION

PRICE TEN CENTS
52 PAGES — FOUR SECTIONS

PRESIDENTS MARK NEW BOUNDARY Lopez Mateos Salutes Friendship

Cites Meeting
As 'Lesson
In Peace'

Pledges Chamizal
To House Memorial
To John F. Kennedy

President Lopez Mateos of Mexico today said that the meeting of two Presidents and the unveiling of the Chamizal monument offered a simple, crystal-clear lesson on how two peoples may live together in peace.

The Mexican President was the first speaker at today's historic and history-making event, the one introduced by Congressman David Herrera Jarama, of the International Boundary and World Commission of the United States and Mexico.

UNVEIL MONUMENT—President Johnson, left, and President J. House High School. In background, a billboard shows a map of the United States.

Chamizal Pact Sealed In Ceremony

By MARSHALL HALL
President Lyndon B. Johnson of the United States and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico met today in unique and historic Chamizal. They commemorated the largest river in the history of El Paso.

Estimates placed the size of the through that got at least a glimpse of the two leaders at more than 100,000, including many from Mexico.

The Presidents commemorated settlement of the ancient Chamizal boundary dispute, renewed pledges of friendship, and in public speeches expressed their strong desire for peace and unity between the two nations.

The two Presidents, old friends, began their historic journey in the middle of the desert, under a bright sun, to seal a new bond. They embraced and shook hands.

The meeting, leaders for peace and friendship.

LBJ Speech Opens Door For Surmitt

Go Anywhere,
Talk to Anyone,
In Quest of Peace

President Johnson extended a warm hand of friendship to Mexico today and said in a speech that he wanted to see the world in peace. He said he wanted to see the world in peace.

LEGENDARY PICTURE
OF PAGES 48 AND 5

President Johnson today extended a warm hand of friendship to Mexico today and said in a speech that he wanted to see the world in peace. He said he wanted to see the world in peace.