

RESEARCH PAPER

You are to select a conflict and explain how a leader using conflict resolution skills could resolve the problem. Be sure to do more than to just describe the situation. Suggest possible solutions. The paper could address any type of conflict: international, business or workplace, personal or organizational. You should use authoritative sources for your paper, preferably academic sources.

The paper should be typed, double-spaced, and free of typing, grammar, spelling, and punctuation errors. You should use the APA citation style. Wikipedia should not be used to do the research, and no more than 50% of the sources may be from websites. (Not including the online articles from the Library.)

Any websites used must be reliable, such as that of the U.S. State Department, a university webpage, etc.

The paper must include at least five sources and be at least five pages long.

Students will be graded on the basis of a number of factors including thoroughness, research, accuracy, clarity, correct grammar, punctuation, spelling, and overall presentation. I have attached the rubric that I use for grading.
