

ANTH 322: Archaeology of North America • Exam #3, Short-essay Question • December 22, 2018

The following is your short-essay question for the third ANTH 322 exam. Your response will be worth up to a maximum of 20 points out of a potential 100 for exam #1:

- One common element of many Native American societies in the eastern U.S. and Canada was the existence of mounds. Write a short essay linking mounds and mound building to the evolution of culturally complex societies in eastern North America.

You will have one week to write your answer. I am looking for a short-essay response – two to three typed pages. You must submit your answer to me by noon on Thursday, April 25 (the start time of your online multiple-choice exam). Please email it to me as a Word doc or PDF at dhoefer@twc.com. If you use any outside (non-textbook, non-classroom) academic sources, please note them at the end of your answer. Remember: correct spelling and proper grammar will work in your favor!
