

There was a terrible environmental disaster that happened some years ago in Alaska. The ship was the Exxon Valdez. Your job is to research it, learn every single detail of what happened, why it happened, and who caused it. Then explain what it did to the environment and what kind of clean up was needed because of it. I want to know every single detail about it.

- The research paper must be in APA format, approximately 3-4 pages long with additional pages for the title and references.
- Demonstrates ability to analyze topic well and incorporate the researched material into a well thought out paper with appropriate sentence structure and grammar.
- References available on a work cited page and in line according to proper APA format
