therealkeithharing After moving from Pennsylvania to New York, I found a community within and a love of street art. Popularity of my art grew when I painted empty advertisement posters at New York Subway stops. #myfirststudio #Ialmostgotcaught!

therealkeithharing In 1986, I opened a Pop Shop where I sold my art and merch. The interior of the store was a mural of my work! It became a hit in New York City. After I was diagnosed with AIDs, I was able to use my platform to raise awareness of sexual health. #ilovemyfans #murals therealkeithharing I love taking on big projects mostly (like the one above!). I use acrylic paint and most often incorporate primary colors into my paintings!

KEITH HARING

therealkeithharing This painting is one of my favorites! I used thick lines to express forcefulness and power of my message. The shorter fluid lines suggest movement. The colors and location of line is exciting as the figures are dancing. #yay #thicklines therealkeithharing I like to use thick lines to define my shapes, as it establishes the clear boundaries of the image. I brought unity to this piece by using similar human shapes.
