Do Now

Write about something you feel strongly about. Would you die for the cause/person? Why or why not?

I feel strongly about girl child education, and I would die for this cause. i believe we are all human beings, and thus we deserve to be treated equally.

The following passage was written by Malala Yousafzai, a young girl who lived in the Swat Valley of Pakistan, which borders Afghanistan and is overrun by the Taliban.

|----|--|
| 1 | I spoke out publicly on behalf of girls and our right to learn. And this |
| 2 | made me a target. |
| 3 | In October 2012, on my way home from school, a masked gunman |
| 4 | boarded my school bus and asked, “Who is Malala?” He shot me on the left side |
| 5 | of my head. |
| 6 | I woke up 10 days later in a hospital in Birmingham, England. The doctors |
| 7 | and nurses told me about the attack — and that people around the world were |
| 8 | praying for my recovery. |
| 9 | The day when everything changed was Tuesday, 9 October 2012. It |
| 10 | wasn’t the best of days to start with as it was the middle of school exams, though |

|----|--|
| 11 | as a bookish girl I didn't mind them as much as some of my classmates. |
| 12 | That morning we arrived in the narrow mud lane of Haji Baba Road in our |
| 13 | usual procession of brightly painted rickshaws , sputtering diesel fumes, each |
| 14 | one crammed with five or six girls. <A rickshaw is a small, two-wheeled, cart-like |
| 15 | passenger vehicle with a fold-down top, pulled by one person.> |
| 16 | Since the time of the Taliban our school has had no sign and the |
| 17 | ornamented brass door in a white wall across from the woodcutter's yard gives |
| 18 | no hint of what lies beyond. |

18 world. As we skipped through, we cast off our head-scarves like winds puffing
 19 away clouds to make way for the sun then ran helter-skelter up the steps. At the 20 top of the steps was an open courtyard with doors to all the classrooms. We 21 dumped our backpacks in our rooms then gathered for morning assembly under
 22 the sky, our backs to the mountains as we stood to attention. One girl
 23 commanded, 'Assaan bash!' or 'Stand at ease!' and we clicked our heels and
 24 responded, 'Allah.' Then she said, 'Hoo she yar!' or 'Attention!' and we clicked
 25 our heels again. 'Allah.'

26 The school was founded by my father before I was born, and on the wall
 27 above us KHUSHAL SCHOOL was painted proudly in red and white letters. We 28 went to school six mornings a week and as a fifteen-year-old in Year 9 my
 29 classes were spent chanting chemical equations or studying Urdu grammar;
 30 writing stories in English with morals like 'Haste makes waste' or drawing
 31 diagrams of blood circulation – most of my classmates wanted to be doctors. It's 32 hard to imagine that anyone would see that as a threat. Yet, outside the door to 33 the school lay not only the noise and craziness of Mingora, the main city of 34 Swat, but also those like the Taliban who think girls should not go to school.

WHAT DETAILS AND IMAGERY DO YOU NOTICE ABOUT THE SETTING?

1. there are classrooms

INFERENCES (What kind of a place is this?)

1. the surrounding environment is not favorable for learning.

2.the students use Arabic language

3.the children are eager to learn

2.there is strict adherence to Taliban rules

3.there is a lack of doctors in that area.

Malala describes the "secret school" by saying, "for us girls that doorway was like a magical entrance to our own special world." What does this quote mean, and what does it tell you about how the girls viewed the school? Malala means that it was a unique experience where girls had a chance to be educated. This quote implies that the girls viewed the school as a peaceful place.

35 The school was not far from my home and I used to walk, but since the 36 start of last year I had been going with other girls in a rickshaw and coming home
37 by bus. It was a journey of just five minutes along the stinky stream, past the 38 giant billboard for Dr Humayun's Hair Transplant Institute where we joked that 39 one of our bald male teachers must have gone when he suddenly started to 40 sprout hair. I liked the bus because I didn't get as sweaty as when I walked, and I
41 could chat with my friends and gossip with Usman Ali, the driver, who we called 42 Bhai Jan, or 'Brother'. He made us all laugh with his crazy stories.

43 I had started taking the bus because my mother was scared of me walking
44 on my own. We had been getting threats all year. Some were in the newspapers,
45 some were notes or messages passed on by people. My mother was worried
46 about me, but the Taliban had never come for a girl and I was more concerned
47 they would target my father as he was always speaking out against them. His 48 close friend and fellow campaigner Zahid Khan had been shot in the face in 49 August on his way to prayers and I knew everyone was telling my father, 'Take

50 care, you'll be next.'When our bus was called, we ran down the steps. The other girls all 5

52 covered their heads before emerging from the door and climbing up into the 53 back. The bus was actually what we call a dyna, a white Toyota TownAce truck
54 with three parallel benches, one along either side and one in the middle. It was 55 cramped with twenty girls and three teachers. I was sitting on the left between
56 Moniba and a girl from the year below called Shazia Ramzan, holding our exam
57 folders to our chests and our school bags under our feet.

58 After that it is all a bit hazy. I remember that inside the dyna it was hot and 59 sticky. The cooler days were late coming and only the faraway mountains of the 60 Hindu Kush had a frosting of snow. The back where we sat had no windows, just 61 thick plastic sheeting at the sides which fapped and was too yellowed and dusty
62 to see through. All we could see was a little stamp of open sky out of the back
63 and glimpses of the sun, at that time of day a yellow orb foating in the dust that
64 streamed over everything.

65 I remember that the bus turned right of the main road at the army
66 checkpoint as always and rounded the corner past the deserted cricket ground. I
67 don't remember any more.

WHAT DETAILS AND IMAGERY DO YOU NOTICE ABOUT THE SETTING?

- 1.the driver was friendly
- 2.the temperatures are high most of the year
- 3.the school bus was unroadworthy

INFERENCES (What kind of a place is this?)

- 1.the students lived in a hostile environment.
- 2.individuals against the Taliban were injured or shot dead.
- 3.there were continuous threats from the Taliban.

Q: Based on what you have read so far, how would you describe the setting of I Am Malala? (See the word bank below.) it is a fascinating story that describes the true picture painted by the Taliban. The story also highlights the state of education provided by the teachers

Q: . Why do you think the Taliban didn't want girls to get an education? According to the Taliban, they believed women are a source of corruption in the country. The Taliban also had gender apartheid rules which blocked girls from getting an education.
