

In combination, what do both documents tell us about the role and significance of immigrants in early British North America?