GUIDELINES:

After we have discussed self-assessment in class and you have had the opportunity to better understand your personal, MBTI Personal Preferences, here is an opportunity to use a slightly different tool.

John Holland has developed a theory regarding 6 possible personality types. They are 1, Realistic, 2 Investigative, 3 Artistic, 4, Social, 5 enterprising and 6 Conventional.

This assignment will give you the opportunity to both reflect on your own personality type as well as think about it in line with your MBTI Personal Preference.

In order to complete this assignment, sign onto the following web site:

and reflect on how the two measures can help you gain a deeper understanding of your preferences in the job market.

Summarize your findings in a Word file and attach it to this assignment.

EXPLORING YOUR PASSION - BADGE - 200 POINTS GUIDELINES:

"The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation, and go to the grave with the song still in them." - H.D.Thoreau

This quotation has been analyzed extensively, but I hope, for you, it can provide inspiration. We work for a long time in our lives and when we do work, it consumes most of our days. You owe it to yourself to take the time to truly understand your personal interests, how you might be able to be more empowered in your career quest and to better understand how you can more effectively deal with challenge and adversity.

The challenges in this section will give you a chance to not only avoid a world of quiet desperation, but more importantly, choose the path that will help you truly pursue opportunities that are most in line with your personal interests and ambitions.
