

Analyze the Response to a Human Rights Violation Assignment

You will select a topic and deliver a video or audio-recorded seminar about a human rights violation or a potential human rights violation that is occurring in the world. The topic you select can be ANYTHING happening in the world: it can be something that has already happened or something that has been proposed by a government. Try to keep your topics to things that have happened since 2000. You will need to make sure that your topic is approved.

What do you need to do for your online seminar:

- Written component (at least 1 page) submitted to your teacher
- Deliver an interesting, engaging and original seminar on your selected topic to your colleagues (about 5-8 minutes in length)
- Find and use one media piece that can help to give additional context and information on your issue

To cover in your written component and seminar:

- When and where
- Summary of the issue
- Groups and people targeted
- Causes of rights violation (what brought this about)
- Consequences (can be potential)
- Rights at issue (the UN, EU, and Canadian documents regarding human rights are available on the class website for you)
- Existing commentary (what is being said about this issue - summarize the current debate)
- What, if any, media coverage has this issue received?
- Where do you stand - and why?

You can use the graphic organizer that is included with this assignment (in one of the attached files) to help guide your research.

Be sure to include both proper footnotes and a bibliography page in proper Chicago formatting. Please ensure that you submit your assignment as a PDF.
