

Theater Midterm Project

DUE: Thursday, March 12th

REQUIREMENTS: For this project, you will 1) create something that has a connection to theater AND 2) write a short, 1-page reflection on how it connects to theater. Lastly, 3) you will also have roughly 5 minutes to present this to class on the day it is due.

SAMPLE PROJECT IDEAS: For example, you could write an essay on a play or an element of theater you like. You could also write an original play, or a few short scenes. Other creative projects include writing and directing a play to be performed in class or recorded and uploaded on YouTube, models of theater sets, original artwork such as paintings or photography, a blog or website, a poster on a famous playwright... the possibilities are endless.

HOW WILL THIS BE GRADED? This will be graded based on:

- 1) Thought, effort, and originality—I can tell you put time into the project and used discussions from class to help guide the completion of the project. The project reflects the amount of time given to complete the project.
- 2) You have all required components of the project: the creative piece, the reflection, and you present it to the class.
- 3) Your reflection is at least 1 page long and addresses what your project is, how it connects to theater, and anything else important.
- 4) Your presentation is at least 5 minutes long and addresses what your project is, how you completed it, and anything else you think the audience should know. You speak clearly, and act professionally.
