A portion of every Florida Lottery Ticket purchased must be used to create gateways for homeless services!

The discussion focus on channeling the Florida Lottery tickets purchased as a gateway for the homeless services. The Florida Lottery was created in the nineteen eighty-eight by the order of the then constitutional amendment that was accented by Florida by a margin ratio of two to one the two years before. The people of Florida were so much into the idea of the lottery because the idea was to promote one of the basic needs of humankind, education. The revenue that was to be collected from the regular transaction of the lottery functions which include the sale of the tickets was to be channeled into the education trust fund to aid the learning of the people of Florida.

The creation of the Florida Lottery was based on the little or no bias because the will of the people was not based on the exploitation of humankind but to assist the disadvantaged in society. The Florida lottery has been used to sponsor most of the students who have excelled in their academic affairs to further their study to the improvement of the person classed as the learned within Florida. The few who were an advantage in the wining of the lottery could also find a way to better the lives of the people. The ones who had loans could use the amount they had to finance their bills and pay the loans. The ones with poor home structure would find a better house to buy hence enhancing the better structures of the homes in the Florida streets.

What if a section of the revenues that were gotten from the Florida Lottery were used to provide create gateways for homeless services? There is no need to provide some of the basic needs while some of the others are not met. The life essence is that most of the basic needs are complementary in that one cannot be achieved while the others are missing. Imagine being so learned but not having a shelter to run into after the whole tiring day? The people in the streets find life too hard to deal not until well-wishers come in to help them survive the tough times that they are going through. There are so many finances that are hanging within the public that can be tapped into both the education and the homeless services making at least life get a balance for the people who are homeless. The lottery can be a base to the creation of millionaires in the society but also a means for bettering the lives of the homeless and the creation of the learned person in the society, hitting too many birds with just a single stone. The lottery serves the need of the society by giving the chance for the many people with a good heart to employ their kindness to play by indirectly helping the needy.

The number of persons who are homeless in Florida is so much wanting because for every ten thousand human heads that are counted fifteen are homeless. The Florida ticket sales can come in to assist adjust these numbers to almost zero. The Florida lottery ticket sale can serve the role of the non-governmental organization the same way it has been serving the education sector to enhance home creation for the many homeless human lives. The millionaires who are created from the Florida lottery tickets can have a section of the amounts that are collected from the operations to make the lives of the many united states human at least a life worth spending on the face of the earth. Most of the people in the united states including Florida are not homeless because of personal wishes but just because of one shortage in life or the other. The reason why people are homeless and what they face can best initiate for the need for people to advocate for the section of the revenues collected from the Florida Lottery tickets to aid the persons who are lacking shelter.

Life is very difficult is you don't have a home and you don't have the means of securing personal belonging and always worrying about personal security. Lack of affordable homes can be a great contributor to the lack of the ability to raise the funds that can fund the monthly paid homes. Most of the rents do not cover the lifestyle of the entire population of the people in Florida forcing those who cannot afford the costs to find homes in the streets at least a place where they can put ahead till morning. By the National Law Center on Homelessness and Poverty, the bridge between affordable homes and the lowest earners in the economy of the united states is so big hence not covering the people who live below the dollar value. The budget cuts into housing are serving the society a lot of injustice as the population of the poor persons can no longer get the finances to service their rents living them the streets as the only place to run to. There are not enough government-funded public rentals that can support the livelihood of the poor hence the need for the Florida lottery ticket funding to come in and cover the remaining percentage that the government finances do not assist. Imagine also a situation where the number of homes is fewer than the number of people who need the homes the outcome is just the many homeless persons that are in the streets.

The other reason for homelessness is the criminalization of homelessness by some of the cities forcing the many other homeless people to move into the streets of Florida. The activities like sleeping in a car, begging, loitering, and sitting in public areas are considered a crime forcing the people to crowd Florida that has little restrictions on the homeless persons. The results will need for the Florida authorities to find an option for resolving the homelessness rather than find a way of sending the homeless persons a way which is quite an inhuman way of dealing with humankind. At times we should at least be in the shoes of the people who are homeless to assist us to understand the kind of lifestyle they are leading.

Mental illness is another contributor to the increasing scales of the persons in the streets who are homeless. The people with mental illness make up a large ¹percentage of the people who are homeless looming in the streets of Florida. Schizophrenia is the common kind of illness that the people who are mentally affected are facing. The war veterans also in the streets who put their lives in the wars for the safety of the country are also amongst the people who have filled the streets as homeless being that some of them are facing post-traumatic stress disorders. The other category of the people in the streets is the women who are running away from the domestic violence that they feel are not giving them an easy time. The women and the children tend to make the larger percentage of the people who are on the streets making their lives disposable to a lot of harm that comes about with being in the open streets at night. The people in the street tend to face lots of challenges being that their lives as so exposed to any danger which includes the weather and the human harm that comes along with the time spent in the streets.

Sleepless nights are the order of the day in the streets being that most of the streets are full of noise from the entertainment areas and the hooting cars. The lack of sleep results in the lower productivity and processing of the kind of people who sleep in the streets making them usually feel irritated at their operations in the day due to the fatigue resulted from the tiredness from little rest. The average human will require a period of six to nine hours to sleep but the homeless persons end up spending less of that time making their concentration affected the whole of the day hours as they will always be dozing off. Assume giving some of these persons a better place to sleep then we expect the production at the different organizations to shoot as they will be operating their best levels. Memory loss is also another effect of sleeping in the streets and not having enough time to have comfortable sleep.

The homeless people are forced most of the time to take in drugs some drugs to enable themselves to sleep leading to the formation of unhealthy behavior. Some of the drugs taken are illegal hence the street life begins to breed the drug business and as a result, affecting even the people with the homes hence funds should be channeled to reduce homelessness. The drugs peddled by the homeless will end up in our homes and in return, the lottery fund in form of revenue should be channeled to aid the people in the streets before their lifestyle affect the lifestyle of the people with homes. The people in the streets are increasing the number of crime rates that are reported in the different police stations and have the rape cases that the persons who are homeless are so high. The people affected by the rape cases are majorly the women and children in the streets hence need to find the homeless a place to lay their head till morning which is better than the dangerous streets. The cases of women being violated in the streets will reduce as they are amongst the weak group in the people in the streets which include their children. The provisions from the kitty created from the money Florida lottery will reduce the cases of homelessness and in return, the homeless will not be tempted to join the criminal gangs that will facilitate to increase the crime rates.

Homeless persons are susceptible to diseases hence allowing the chance to of the spread of the different diseases that are communicable. The example of the diseases that can catch up with the people in the streets is like the coronavirus that is the current world's traumatic disease. Being that most of the people in the streets are poor the chances of them accessing the protective gears like the face masks are very minimal hence their interaction to the infected places where very many people are moving is high. Homeless people will become the source of the spread of the disease because the aftermath will be interacting with the people they are going to meet in their working places and their places of eating food. There brings the need to channel some of the collected funds to give the homeless people home from the Florida lottery revenues from the sale of the tickets. It will be a very good mechanism to which the containment of the contagious diseases is spread. Best of all the concept of the calculator can calculate the amount the winners can be given and the amount that can be channeled into the helping of the homeless persons who are filling the streets of Florida. The exact percentage that can be used to help the homeless could be up to sixty-four million of the money collected in as revenue to help the homeless persons.

As much as the homelessness might seem to be a nothing of concern to the human life and the people of Florida its time the people up to their minds and realize it is in one way or the other be affecting our lives. The fear of resolving the people affected by homelessness is that most of the people from the streets of the other towns will be tempted to come to Florida with the fact that they know that they will be assisted. The helping of the people who are homeless in the streets from the Florida Lottery funds will allow most of the people in the streets to be lazy with the fact that most of them will have some of their basic needs already met hence minimizing their commitment levels to their success and the economy at large.

In conclusion, society does not need to be so inhuman when they only need to help others arises. The togetherness in the resolving of the basic education from the Florida Lottery funds can also apply to resolve homelessness. Resolving homelessness will be the best solution to reduced crime, diseases, and the many other issues that are associated with homeless persons that can be quite harmful to society. The funds collected from the Florida Lottery functions can be used to provide affordable homes to the homeless persons allowing reduce the gap between the poor and the rich. The funds can be used to fund the resources and shelters associated with the homeless which include the foods that the poor in the streets eat bettering even their diet and immunity.
