

Question prompt - Dissociative Identity Disorder (DID) is still one of the most controversial diagnoses in the DSM 5. Discuss your view of this disorder and how might the Christian Worldview inform your understanding of DID.

The initial post (a minimum of 500 words) will include at least one scholarly reference and one question to the class. Please do not include the question prompt in your initial post. It will not count toward the length requirement for your response. Review several of your classmates' posts. Students will also post two additional responses to their classmates. Each response will be a minimum of 250 words, and each post will include at least one leading question and one scholarly reference (i.e., textbook). Note: Wikipedia, WebMD, blogs, Simply Psychology, Very Well Mind, Huffington Post, Mayo Clinic, Dr. Phil, Dr. Oz, Psychopedia, etc. are examples of inappropriate sources. Posts will adhere to APA style (i.e., properly formatted in-text citations, page numbers for direct quotes, and references at the end of the post).
