

	sample/participants, the type of research (quantitative, qualitative, case study, etc.), methods, findings, and recommendations. This should not exceed one paragraph per study unless the study has seminal or historic importance. ● Select studies that reflect the use of differing methodologies to investigate the outcomes of interest. ● Discusses the relationship of the present action research study to previous research studies.
Summary (1 page)
	● Summarize the relevant research and literature used. ● Relate to the present action research study.
APA/CONVENTIONS OF WRITING
	● Written in academic English ● Double-spaced ● Free of spelling and grammatical errors ● Completed within the suggested page length (25-30 pages) ● Attentive to the criteria with headings and subheadings ● Free of APA errors in text and in the reference list
References
	● In text: describe primary sources within the content of the related review of research and literature