Dear Sir/Madam (Manager's Name)

With this letter, I present my application for the psychology internship position as advertised on your company website. It has been my lifetime dream to join your organization, and I am glad that I am finally getting this excellent chance. I commit to offering quality and best services to your organization. I know psychology from my academic years in the university, and work experience from voluntary activities with the community hospital in my area.

I would be glad if you consider me for this position because I am passionate about offering my services to those who need them the most. I am willing and ready to surpass my limits to grow and provide better services in future. Your organization is renowned globally and I believe I will learn a lot from interacting with my colleagues within my work environment, not only in my career but also in my personal and social life. Lastly, I find purpose by working to help make other people's lives better.

I will be deeply honored to have a chance to be part of your organization. For more information, find attached my curriculum vitae and subsequent academic certificates. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours sincerely,
